

THE REBOUNDERS REPORT

The Ohio High School Athletic Association

Issue #4 January 16, 2013

Where did THAT Crazy Rule Come From?

No shot clock, Video replay cannot be used. Though basketball has fewer changes from year to year many wonder what the heck I was thinking when I sat around and made up this rule or that rule. Well...despite the common belief that is what I do, the process is much more complicated and thorough. Plus...no one would trust ME to sit there and make up rules! Anyhow, this 'edition' is tailored to how rules DO get changed and the background to consistency in the sport across the nation. I'll get back to Ohio basketball 'stuff' next week.

Playing Rules are NATIONAL Playing Rules

The OHSAA is a member of the "NFHS" (www.nfhs.org). One of the many functions of the NFHS is to write playing rules for most sports. These playing rules are codified each year in the Rules Book for each sport. Though there may be a rule or two that the OHSAA sport administrator may not totally agree with, as a member of the NFHS, the OHSAA agrees to abide by all playing rules adopted by the NFHS.

The Committee & Representation on the "Committee"

Each sport recognized by the NFHS is represented by its "Rules Committee". The "committee" is comprised of a representative from each of 8 "Sections" across the nation plus a representative from the NFHS Officials Committee and a representative from the NFHS Coaches Committee. These members serve staggered 4 year terms with an additional member elected as the Chair. Mr. Bob Gardner, NFHS Executive Director serves as the publisher and Theresia Wynns who oversees Basketball at the national level, serves as Editor. Only the Editor does not have voting privileges on the committee.

The NFHS divides the US into 8 different 'Sections'. Each Section elects one representative from the states making up that section to the Rules Committee. Ohio is part of 'Section 2' which includes PA, WV, KY, VA, DE and MD

Committee Members & Meetings

Current Committee Members in addition to the Editor and Publisher are:

TBA – Chair	Darryl Beasley, Texas (Coaches Rep)
Robert Cecchini (Connecticut)- Section 1	Teena Brown Toyas, Oregon (Officials Rep)
Bob Lombardi (Pennsylvania) – Section 2	Ernie Yarbrough (Georgia) – Section 3
Debra Hauser (Wisconsin) – Section 4	Francine Martin (Kansas) – Section 5
Tom Robinson (Colorado) – Section 6	Kevin Dustin (Utah) – Section 7
Ron Laird (Wyoming) – Section 8	Theresia Wynns (NFHS Staff) - Editor

The "Rules Committee" meets 3 times per year at the NFHS offices in Indianapolis.

Input for Rule Changes

An important aspect of the Rule (change) Process is receiving input from a wide range of individuals involved in the sport. Officials and Coaches are represented by their representative to the Committee. Each Section is represented by its selected member. During the season, every sport administrator (yours truly) in each state is provided a list of survey questions regarding trends and current issues that may have developed during the year. Toward the end of each season, every school head coach along with every registered Class 1 official in the nation is given the opportunity to respond to a survey about trends in the game. The results of this survey are the basis for the Committee's agenda at its April meeting. Also, prior to the April meeting, individuals across the nation (coaches, officials and administrators) are provided an opportunity to submit "Rules Proposals" to the Committee. These proposals must first be read and approved by the state association sport administrator (such as myself) and signed by the state's Commissioner before submission to the Committee for consideration.

Rule Change Proposals...What Happens Next?

Once proposals are received, the NFHS staff liaison meets with the Chair of the Rules Committee to evaluate the proposals and determine which proposals make the 'all important' next Committee meeting agenda. The agenda is provided to each state association for input and each state association administrator is contacted by the representative elected from their Section for feedback and direction. Any proposal that makes it to the agenda for discussion it must be approved by a margin of 2 votes to be considered for possible approval.

- Those that DO make it to the agenda for discussion, the entire committee reviews and works on the proposal.
- Vote is taken by the Committee and the proposal must pass by a margin of 2 votes to become a rule
- Any proposal that DOES pass by a margin of 2 votes now moves to the NFHS Rules Review Committee. This committee is comprised of NFHS staff member involved in writing rules. The object is to review for consistency with other rules.

What Happens Next....continued

- After review and (if) approval, the rule change is sent to the NFHS Board of Directors who make the final decision as to whether a rule change will take place.
- If the NFHS Board of Directors make no comment....RULE CHANGE!
- The NFHS Rules Book is changed, the Case Book is changed and the communication to all states, coaches and officials is developed.

Note: The Rules Review Committee or the NFHS Board of Directors will not change any proposal that comes to them, but they MAY refer it back to the original Rules Committee for further discussion.

How does the OHSAA Implement the Changes?

Each state is provided a News Release announcing any adopted Rule Change. This announcement generally takes place 3-4 months prior to the start of the season and is placed on the OHSAA's website and communicated to the Coaches' Association recognized by the OHSAA for that sport. Additionally, it is shared with the OHSAA's Director of Development for Officials in that specific sport. Then each of the following are scheduled and/or conducted:

National Rules Interpretation Meeting

Each state administrator logs on to a national webinar conducted by the NFHS Sport Administrator to review all Rule Changes, Editorial Changes and Points of Emphasis. This meeting offers an opportunity for open dialogue and Q and A's

State (Ohio) Interpreters Clinic

Each local officials' association has an "interpreter". These interpreters come to a meeting at the OHSAA to review the Rule Changes, Editorial Changes, Points of Emphasis and any official pertinent information. Their task of course is to take this to their local officials associations and convey it there. This meeting is conducted 2-3 weeks prior to the start of the season and conducted by the "Director of Development" (see inset) and the OHSAA's Sport Administrator (Jerry Snodgrass for Basketball)

State Mandated Rules Interpretation Meetings

Coaches and Officials across Ohio MUST attend a State Rules Meeting each year. The OHSAA has attempted to help both groups by offering the meetings online and as well as a limited number of 'face to face' meetings across the state. These meetings utilize the information.

Local Officials Meetings

In addition to the mandated STATE Rules Meetings, each official in the state is required to attend 4 additional meetings at their local association during the soccer season. These "Local" meetings have agendas/topics set by the sport's Director of Development.

Directors of Development Key Part of Rule Enforcement

In 2009, the OHSAA recognized "Directors of Development" to serve as the lead rules interpreter and liaison to officials for each sport the OHSAA sponsors. These "DOD's" have the responsibility not only of interpreting rules but also for providing educational opportunities for officials and recruiting new officials. The DOD's assist with tournament assignments while also developing meeting agendas for required "local" officials association meetings.

Yeah, ,but....aren't there Exceptions??? Of Course there are. They are called STATE ADOPTIONS!!

There is a slight bit of latitude given to the states that permits each state to adopt a certain rule if they so choose. These 'exceptions' are known as State Adoptions. Basically, any rule that is permitted to be adopted or not adopted by a state (therefore the term 'State Adoption'), is a rule that does not cause or create any fundamental difference in the game itself. One of the best examples would be the '3-pt line' in basketball. It is NOT a 'State Adoption', meaning states do not have a choice whether to adopt it or not. If one state were to have the 3-pt line and another state not, it would create an anomaly within the fundamental rules of the game and eliminate the necessary consistency from state to state. So, State Adoptions are generally granted for rules that if varied from state to state would have little fundamental difference in the game itself. And I know your next question....What ARE some examples of state adoptions? There are actually several in basketball and include:

- States are permitted to determine the size of ball used at the 7-8th grade level
- States are permitted to determine on a state by state basis whether a "running clock" may be used with specific score differentials
- States are permitted on a state by state basis to permit video replay for game ending shots at the state tournament level only

So Now, The Million Dollar Question..."Do we HAVE to follow all the NFHS Rules?"

Q: What if a state chooses not to follow all the Rules adopted by the NFHS or a selected Rule Change?

A: That state loses its opportunity to be part of the National Rules Committee either by sitting on the committee or by supplying input through the various questionnaires. "Ohio" recently CHAIRED the national basketball rules committee. Kyle McNeely, the OHSAA's Baseball "DOD" recently served as the chair of the NFHS Baseball Rules Committee. Ohio would lose this opportunity if we chose not to follow NFHS Rules.

Shot Clock???????????

So, are you still wondering about a 'shot clock' in high school basketball? The above might give a little insight as to why we DON'T have one or more importantly why Ohio does not implement one and not wait for it to be a national rule. Have you heard of states that DO have a shot clock? There are. BUT....they are not following NFHS Playing rules (something Ohio as previously mentioned DOES do by its own Constitution) and have no opportunity for input to the national rules committee. More on this later!
