

Hallabrin Named To All-Ohio Team

Mansfield High Star Forms Backfield of Mythical Eleven With Glass, Terleckie and Simonetti; Dials on Second Selection.

COLUMBUS, (UP)—From an army of 150,000 scholastic football warriors who started the campaign last September with equal ratings, there emerged today 11 youthful commanders of Ohio's schoolboy gridiron kingdom.
 The 11 gridders were elevated to the top rank when they were selected members of the all-state scholastic team, selected annually by the Ohio High School Coaches association. The choices were announced by John L. Brickels, New Philadelphia, president of the group.

As a radical departure from the policy followed in the past only seniors were considered for first team births. Another determining factor in the choices was the type of opposition met as judged from the length and kind of schedule played.

Places Five Men.
 The northeastern district, long a "hot bed" of scholastic football, again grabbed the largest share of places on the mythical team. It took five places. The eastern district placed three men on the team; the northwestern, two; and the southwestern, one. The central district was unrepresented.

Massillon, a claimant of the state championship although beaten and tied during the past campaign; and New Philadelphia, loser of but one contest, were the only schools to place more than one player on the mythical team.

The Massillon representatives were Don Snavelly, at an end; and Bob Glass, at halfback. These two youngsters were the only members of the 1936 team who repeated.

Glass undoubtedly was the outstanding individual ball carrier to perform on an Ohio schoolboy team during the past season. A well-built, 184 pound lad, he possessed both power and elusiveness. He also was a fine punter and a capable passer. On top of his offensive achievements, Glass was a deadly tackler and played at end on defense.

Snavelly was on the 1936 team as a center. This year he was shifted to end and demonstrated remarkable versatility. He was a smart, aggressive flankman with keen ability to diagnose opponent plays. In addition he was above the average as a pass receiver.

Wife Team Berths.
 Leonard Simonetti, at fullback, and David Metzger, at guard, were the New Philadelphia boys chosen. Simonetti was on the second all-state team a year ago. Weighing 210 pounds, he was a smashing line plunger who was good for yardage against all opponents. Metzger was a rugged, hard-charging lineman who stood out on a forward wall that gave up only 33 points in 10 games.

Paired with Glass in the backfield were Johnny Hallabrin of Mansfield, and Frank Terlecki of Youngstown Chaney.

Hallabrin was a triple threat star who climaxed a brilliant scholastic career by lifting his team to a ranking position in the state. Bearing the brunt of all offensive maneuvers, Hallabrin averaged six yards for each ball carrying effort; completed 30 out of 73 passes he tossed and averaged almost 40 yards on his punts. He scored 55 of the 126 points his team garnered. Terlecki was a heady field general and a fine blocker.

To team with Snavelly at end, Richard Kallistenski of Bellaire was named. He was a fine all-around wingman.

Giants at Tackles.
 A pair of young giants were chosen for the tackles. Marvin Snider of Toledo Libbey, scaling 190 pounds, developed rapidly during the past campaign and played his best when the going was tough. He seldom was taken out of a play. His running mate, Jim Brutz of Warren Harding weighed 225 pounds, but was exceptionally fast and alert.

Ralph Fife of Canton McKinley was awarded the guard post opposite Metzger. Fife was named as a blocker and pulled out of the line to lead plays with rare skill.
